FOUR SEASONS PROMOTES MANAGER TO EXECUTIVE TEAM

Four Seasons Health Club promotes Program Manager Brandi Kimball to Vice President of Operations.

BLOOMINGTON-NORMAL, Ill. (December 4, 2015) – Four Seasons Health Club announced the promotion of Brandi Kimball to Vice President of Operations from Program Manager effective as of Nov. 16, 2015.

The Vice President of Operations serves on the executive team with the Vice President of Business Solutions supporting the CEO, in addition to overseeing the program, building and grounds, fitness, juice bar and aquatics departments.

Four Seasons has leadership, management and executive teams which undergo Gallup Press's Strengths Finder training. The training entails a series of group classes which teaches teams how to utilize their own strengths and their staff's strengths to grow employees into positions they excel at and enjoy doing. The organization thinks highly of creating opportunities for internal growth and promotion.

“Not only does Brandi have an excellent record of experience, she has shown to be a good fit for the executive team,” says Four Seasons CEO Jeff Leverton. “We searched for someone who could not only do the job well, but be a dynamic leader, and Brandi has exceptional energy, commitment to growth and a positive attitude that fits well with the culture we strive to create on the Four Seasons leadership team.”

Kimball has 13 years of experience in health and fitness, public relations and development, community education and management. A local graduate from Illinois State University, she has a Bachelor's Degree in Public Relations, Advertising and Applied Communication and Legal Studies.

Four Seasons is currently hiring for several positions and is always accepting applications. Review open job listings and submit information at www.4seasons-club.com/about/employment.
